Hospital apologises for 'error' that led to death

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes Hospital has apologised for a doctor's 'error of judgement' which contributed to a patient's death.

Robert John Garratt, 62, from Lower End Road, Wavendon was confirmed dead in the hospital's A&E department on Monday, October 2 2006.

His family appealed for an inquest, believing that the medical team had missed something 'obvious'.

The two-day hearing, which ended yesterday, heard he had been incorrectly discharged the day before his death after a doctor failed to reach a firm diagnosis.

Mr Garratt, who suffered from diabetes, asthma, long-term varicose veins and was morbidly obese, was taken to hospital in an ambulance on October 1, 2006 at around 4.30pm after he became dizzy and breathless.

When he arrived at hospital he appeared to be feeling better, but the paramedics had recorded worryingly low levels of oxygen in his blood, the inquest heard.

'He had a lot of friends, at the funeral, they were queuing outside. He was the best father, he looked after us' – Robert Garratt's daughter Tracy Clark

At 8.10pm he was seen by specialist registrar, Dr Rosemary Jessica Hancock, who discharged him 20 minutes later.

His wife, Christine, said the doctor gave them no explanation of what had caused her husband to collapse.

At 4.45am on Monday, October 2 Mr Garratt suffered another attack of breathlessness and attempts to resuscitate him were unsuccessful. The inquest heard that he died of a blocked artery, known as a pulmonary embolism, caused by a blood clot which formed in a vein in his right calf.

Dr John Thurston, an expert in A&E who prepared a report for the inquest, said: "It's a very common condition and it's said that most doctors will miss a pulmonary embolism at least once in their career, but the circumstances are such that I can't understand why it wasn't even considered."

He said Mr Garratt should have been admitted, treated with a drug immediately and given several types of scans to confirm the diagnosis.

He added that if these steps had been taken it would have 'certainly increased his chances of recovery'.

Dr Hancock admitted she had made a mistake, apologised and said that with hindsight she would have reacted differently. However, she claimed she could not have ordered for Mr Garratt to be given a CT scan or ultra-sound as these services are not provided out of hours.

This was denied by a representative from the hospital.

In a narrative verdict deputy coroner Tom Osbourne concluded: "Robert John Garratt died on October 2 2006 when he suffered a pulmonary embolism which was not diagnosed and his death was contributed to by the loss of an opportunity to render medical treatment."

Mr Garratt's daughter, Tracy Clark, said her father, a semi-retired caretaker, was very popular in Woburn Sands where he was born and bred.

"Everyone knew him, everyone liked him," she said. "He had a lot of friends, at the funeral they were queuing outside. He was the best father, he looked after us."

A spokesman from Milton Keynes Hospital said: "I can only apologise for the error of judgement made in this particular case. Following the review undertaken after Mr Garratt's death procedures were put in place to ensure that similar cases are diagnosed and treated immediately."

Head says 'sorry' for ponies abuse

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A HEADMISTRESS from a private school has apologised to staff and parents for causing unnecessary suffering to two Shetland ponies.

Last week this newspaper revealed how Deborah Berkin, 51, head of the Grove Independent School in Loughton, has been banned from keeping horses and ponies for the next ten years and was ordered to pay costs of more than £4,000.

She pleaded guilty to two charges including failing to provide her daughter's ponies, which were kept at her rented house at Hatch Hill Farm, Lillingstone Dayrell, Buckinghamshire, with a suitable diet and not supplying ready access to fresh water.

The offences were committed between September and November last year.

In an extraordinary letter sent to parents this week she lifts the lid on why she let it happen claiming she was under extreme pressure at the time.

Part of the letter said: "We are an animal loving family and have many pets which we all love and care about and I believed at the time that we were caring for the ponies adequately."

One of her daughters is currently studying veterinary care.

Mrs Berkin lists three incidents which had a "huge impact" on her, including her daughter - who previously cared for the ponies - leaving for boarding school and her son's health problems.

She also gives a detailed description of the illness of a "close family friend".

"All of the above and my focus on The Grove resulted in me not paying adequate attention to my personal life and circumstances," she added.

"The unfortunate set of events regarding the ponies followed as a consequence and I am deeply ashamed and upset by this."

Mrs Berkin has been ordered to pay a total of £4757.29p, including court costs and vets fees, and was given a conditional discharge.

Hay ho: One of the Shetland ponies which was caused unecessary suffering by private school headmistress Deborah Berkin

RSPCA Inspector Kirsty Hampton's statement, read out in court by RSPCA prosecutor Janita Patel, said the ponies' spines and haunches were visible, they had no access to water or hay and the paddock was covered in faeces when she visited on two occasions.

The vet's statement said both ponies appeared to have had inadequate food for several months and, had been dehydrated for approximately a day when they were inspected on November 13.

The court heard that Mrs Berkin, who had no experience of keeping ponies, moved the animals to a smaller field after their summer paddock became waterlogged, but did not realise they would have less grass to graze and need to be fed more hay.

City schools to close as teachers strike over pay

SCHOOLS across Milton Keynes will be forced to close as teachers strike over pay tomorrow.

The National Union of Teachers (NUT) is organising the walk-out as teachers take part in their first national strike in 21 years.

Milton Keynes Council said that a third of schools in Milton Keynes are expected to close or partially close on Thursday.

As MK NEWS went to press seven schools had confirmed that they will be closed but that figure could increase today.

They include Christ the Sower Ecumenical, Emerson Valley Junior, Knowles Infant, Knowles Junior, Meadfurlong, Merebrook Infant and White Spire.

Six other schools have confirmed partial closures, which will only affect certain year groups and classes.

A statement from Milton Keynes Council said: "Teachers are making sure children that have important examinations are not as badly affected by the strike action called by the NUT and so only a dozen schools are expected to close their doors to students completely."

The union is striking over a 2.4 per cent pay offer from the Government for teachers in England and Wales this year.

Officials say it is below the rate of retail price inflation, which stands at around four per cent.

Other teaching unions accepted the deal.

David Gamble, Milton Keynes Council's schools group director, said: "We would like to thank teachers and head teachers for making sure that where possible the impact on students with important examinations is limited."

Colleges are also affected, as the University and Colleges Union (UCU) calls its members out to strike over their 2008/09 pay claim.

Deputy principal at MK College, Julie Mills, said: "I acknowledge their responsibility as union members to support the national agenda. The college will be open as normal on Thursday with disruption kept to a minimum."

Garden gates: The former Wyevale Garden Centre has been demolished as a safety precaution

Everything in the garden flattened

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

Hello little weed: Wyevale Garden Centre goes 'brownfield' after demolition

A DERELICT garden centre in the middle of town has been demolished after it became a haven for tramps and drug users.

Contractors finished levelling the site at Avebury Boulevard, previously occupied by Wyevale Garden Centre, last week.

When the garden centre closed earlier this year the site quickly became an eyesore and a safety risk as homeless people and drug addicts used it for shelter.

English Partnerships bought the site but Milton Keynes Council had a statutory duty to intervene and make the area safe.

Phil Winsor, chief environmental officer at Milton Keynes Council, said: "It was repeatedly broken into and there was the potential for arson and drug abuse.

"It was a den of iniquity.

"The police and the fire service were called out there on a number of occasions.

"If someone was sleeping rough in there and there was a fire they could have been killed.

"English Partnerships worked with us to have the matter concluded. It's been flattened and now it's ready for redevelopment."

So far no planning applications have been submitted for the land but a statement from Milton Keynes Partnership (MKP) said: "MKP purchased the freehold of the Wyevale Garden Centre site because of its strategic city centre location.

"Following negotiations for the early surrender of the lease MKP appointed contractors at the earliest possible opportunity to demolish the existing structure to make the site safe. Plans for the redevelopment of the site will be brought forward as part of the city centre expansion plans."

Doorstep stabbing leaves teenager critical in hospital

A TEENAGER is in critical condition in hospital after he was stabbed on his front doorstep.

At around 11.45pm on Sunday the 18-year-old answered his front door and was stabbed in the stomach causing serious internal injuries.

Detectives are appealing for witnesses to the stabbing which took place at in Langland Road, Netherfield.

The victim remains in a critical but stable condition in Milton Keynes Hospital.

DC David Reynolds said: "This type of incident is rare in Milton Keynes and I would urge anyone who witnessed the incident or saw anyone or vehicle acting suspiciously in the area at the time to contact me or Crimestoppers."

Det Con Reynolds can be contacted on 08458 505 505 or call the Crimestoppers charity anonymously on 0800 555111.

City schoolchildren are being taught by unqualified teachers

EIGHTY-ONE teachers working at schools in Milton Keynes do not have the Government's official teaching qualification.

The number of unqualified teachers taking classes in state schools has soared in the last decade according to new findings.

Figures obtained from Milton Keynes Council by local Conservatives reveal that most of the unqualified teachers work at the city's secondary schools.

The total number without without Qualified Teacher Status (QTS) stands at 81.

Iain Stewart, Conservative Parliamentary Candidate for Milton Keynes South, said: "The Government's advice is that everyone should have the official qualification before teaching as a qualified teacher in a state school so it is very surprising that there is such a large number of teachers within Milton Keynes without QTS."

Nationally, the number of teachers without QTS has increased from 2,940 in 1997 to 16,710 in 2007.

Councillor Sandra Clark, Cabinet member for schools, said: "Of those 81 teachers, only 39 are full-time and a number of the remainder will be taking teaching training courses.

"The link between our schools and our work environment is becoming increasingly more important.

"Qualified experts are used to teach vocational courses such as car mechanics and plumbing whereas qualified teachers wouldn't have such skills.

"It makes perfect sense to use a qualified car mechanic.

"The world we live in is more vocational than educational."

State of Bletchley cemetery a disgrace

SIR – For the past two years I have been campaigning to have improvements implemented at the new cemetery at Selbourne Avenue, Bletchley.

Recently I received notice from Network Rail that they are going to upgrade the disgraceful non fencing at the rear of the cemetery facing the railway line – a result of numerous e-mails and letters.

Why hasn't Milton Keynes Council been asking for this?

Should it be incumbent upon a grieving husband to fight for these improvements?

The whole planning of this cemetery has been a shambles. It gets flooded when heavy rain occurs, Why? No drainage has been put in place.

The road surface under the bridge leading to the entrance of the cemetery is a disgrace – full of potholes and flooded most of the winter. Who's responsible? Network Rail say 'Not Me'. Milton Keynes Council – no reply. Cemetery management – no idea.

Come on Milton Keynes Council get a grip of your road management. It's a cemetery not a building project. It requires rules and regulations to run a cemetery, where are they displayed?

Certainly not at Selbourne Avenue – it is taking on the appearance of a funfair in places.

I have met several people tending there loved one's graves and all are disgusted with this cemetery. Even the rubbish bins are in the middle of mud most of the time.

Please bring this cemetery up to standard this year before yet another winter.

R Brinsley
Hunter Drive, Bletchley

Cheers for Dons fans

SIR – The rollercoaster has turned and the Dons are at last headed in an upward direction.

Congratulations to Pete Winkelman who had the courage to back his dream, Paul Ince and the backroom staff, the players' and last but not least the 'twelfth man, our supporters, who have cheered the team on to success both home and away.

John Brockwell
Chairman, Milton Keynes Dons Supporters' Association

No choice for homeless

SIR – I read with interest MK Council's comments on the so-called redevelopment of Briar Hill/Snowdrop Walk, Stacey Bushes.

The council suggested that the area had been problematic for a number of years and that people no longer wish to live there.

I would like to point out that homeless people only get one offer of housing, there is no choice.

It is difficult to believe that homeless people or people in housing need would be in a position to refuse a tenancy.

As regards the sheltered housing scheme, it was stated the closure was due to lack of demand, before it's closure the council said it had serious subsidence and that's why it was closing.

The facts are there are many people on waiting lists wishing to live in sheltered housing schemes.

The closure of this one and others means that local people who wish to remain living in the community, to be near friends and family will be denied this opportunity.

MKC seems to be more in favour of utopian villages, privately owned and expensive to live in.

As regards the Stacey Bushes area being problematic there are other areas that can and have problems, will they suffer the same fate?

The problems have been allowed to go unchallenged and this is the consequence; good housing having to be demolished.

As regards the sale of the land to yet another housing association I wonder will it be sold for the enormous sum of £1 as was a recent Newport Pagnell re-development.

If it has to be sold the money made should go back into council housing and should be sold to obtain it's highest value.

This issue should be closely monitored.

See and be seen is the message for 'tinters'

Sergeant Chris Appleby with a TintMan monitor for checking car windows

SIR – I was pleased to see that police are cracking down on illegally tinted car windows.

While I appreciate a mild tint can bring some benefits of comfort and security, I am very concerned by the heavily tinted driver-side windows which have become common in the last year or two.

Consider for example, the everyday situation where you are progressing along a grid road and a driver is waiting to pull out of a side road ahead.

If you can see the driver, you can often tell when they have not seen you - which gives you the opportunity to take action if necessary (change speed, change position, use horn, etc). If however, you can't see the driver you have no way of knowing whether they're looking this way, that way or have stopped to chat to their passenger!

I am a bike rider as well as a car driver and being able to see the driver has allowed me to 'save my life' on more than one occasion over the years by giving me that little bit of extra information that the driver has not looked properly.

As a rider, these kind of crashes are generally lethal and, although I would have the satisfaction, albeit only for an instant, of having been 'in the right', this probably wouldn't be great comfort to my wife and children when they get a knock on the door.

This isn't just a danger for bike riders though - should the worst happen in the above situation to car users at grid road speeds, the car driver on the main road may well survive the frontal impact (though he may well be crippled for life) – but the driver who is T-boned for his failure to properly look is unlikely to survive the side impact.

Seeing what the drivers of other vehicles are up to is obviously only a small piece of the useful information available, but in my experience, it is a vital piece.

I would encourage readers to consider the impact of tinting on road safety risks to their own, and others' families, against the benefits it may give.

Schools consultation a waste of time and cash

SIR – When I started to read the letter in your paper last week about the fallout following the Rickley and Rivers merger, I thought 'here we go again, another hard done by Rickley story'.

However, when I got to the end of it, I was pleasantly surprised to see that someone, at last, seems to be showing some common sense, which is more than can be said for those closely involved in the death of the new school.

I cannot help but agree with the author of the letter, as the consultation has been the most disgraceful waste of time, and worst of all, money.

I concur that, following the public consultation period, both sides should have been big enough to get on with each other and accept what had been decided during that time.

Less than two weeks ago I learned with some horror that, because of Rickley's intransigence, that the whole 'deal' could so easily be put to dust.

I just hope that those involved in killing this whole exercise do not see it as some kind of victory, as it most certainly is not.

I feel sorry for the teachers whose futures are more in jeopardy now that a brand new school will need to be brought into existence from the ashes of this fiasco and, equally as importantly, those parents who do not know whether either school is a viable option for their children – who knows where any new school will be sited.

Name and address supplied

Stuff and nonsense

SIR – I noticed that once again your paper is trotting out the usual stuff and nonsense about the local council elections and what the glory-seeking, self-centred windbags are going to do for us if we elect them.

When will the public ever learn? All the council ever does is put up rents and council tax.

Even your headline of 'Promises, promises' is a joke – promises are all we ever get from these people.

No wonder most people can't be bothered to even turn up to vote.

Please stick some pictures of spring in the paper instead of this awful guff guaranteed to make us miserable.

Write stuff from both of city MPs

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's MPs have been rated among the best in the country at responding to constituents' messages.

The website WriteToThem.com listed Mark Lancaster, MP for North East Milton Keynes, as the 15th best at responding to consituents' out of 637 Members of Parliament.

Dr Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West, was also rated highly in 65th place.

The results were compiled during 2007 by an independent body which contacted all those who had used the 'WriteToThem' survey form to contact their MP.

Mr Lancaster had 228 messages sent to him and 156 out of 167 people who replied to the survey said they had been sent a response in good time by the MP.

Mr Lancaster said: "Representing my constituents has always been my top priority and I believe that responding swiftly to every piece of correspondence that I receive, whether that be an email, phone call or a letter, is important.

"There is however always room for improvement and while 15th out of 637 is not a bad performance, I'll aim to be in the top ten next year."

Lancaster: 15th out of 637

Starkey: 65th out of 637

Dr Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West, was sent 180 messages through the website and 106 out of 125 people who replied to the survey said they had been sent a response in good time by the MP.

Dr Starkey pointed out that the survey only covers a small proportion of the correspondence she gets everyday, as many people will contact her directly. I try very hard to respond as quickly as possible to constituents, but if their query is very complicated it can sometimes take quite a while as I think it is important to give a proper answer rather than just hash something together.

"I believe it is important that there is a proper dialogue between MPs and their constituents."

Pervert litter picker addicted to flashing

A LITTER picker who was arrested for persistently flashing women in a park has blamed his actions on a sexual addiction.

Michael Lee Woolhead, 22, of Kingsfold, Bradville, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday and pleaded guilty to one charge under the Sexual Offences Act 2003.

Magistrates heard that Woolhead was arrested on March 25 after exposing himself to a woman as she walked her dog through a park in New Bradwell at 6.15am.

Peter Bird, prosecuting, said the victim met a friend before she walked into the park, who told her 'our flasher is back'.

But the woman continued into the park, where her dog began acting strangely around a bush.

Woolhead appeared by a bench behind the bush and touched himself in front of her.

The shocked woman rushed home and dialled 999 and both victims told police about the incident.

At interview, Woolhead admitted exposing his genitals to female members of the public on numerous occasions over the last year.

"He says he thought he had some sexual addiction which he needs help for," said Mr Bird.

Jaclin Bastian, defending, said: "He was smoking cannabis on a regular basis and partaking in the consumption of other drugs at that time.

"He wasn't in a good frame of mind.

"He can't believe he committed these offences and he fully appreciates how these individuals would have felt."

The case was adjourned for a probation report before sentencing takes place next month.

Police warn of high-purity heroin

DRUG users have been alerted by police that heroin of a dangerously high purity could be on the market in Milton Keynes.

Police suspect that the heroin is available in Milton Keynes and Slough and are keen to get the message out to dealers and users before the weekend.

A statement released by Thames Valley Police on Friday said: "Heroin is a class A drug and therefore illegal; however police are aware there are people in Milton Keynes and Slough that deal and use heroin.

"Police make every effort to tackle drug crime, but also have a duty of care to inform the public of any suspicion there is bad heroin in an area. If you suspect someone is unwell as a result of drug abuse seek medical advice immediately."

Overnight closures during A5 repair work

WORK has started on the A5 Milton Keynes bypass.

Essential concrete repairs will take place to the northbound carriageway through to May 12.

The work will take place overnight between 7pm and 7am.

During the week the northbound carriageway will be closed overnight between the A509 interchange and the A508 roundabout. A diversion route will be in place via the A5/A509 interchange, Portway, Watling Street, Queen Eleanor Street, London Road and rejoining the A5 at the A508 Old Stratford roundabout.

At weekends the northbound carriageway will remain open but with lane closures from 7am-7pm.

These works will not affect southbound traffic using the A5 through Milton Keynes.

Repairs on five bridges on the A5 between the Old Stratford roundabout and the A422 Monks Way will also take place.

Too small for new machinery: Mount Farm Sorting Office could close in push for improved efficiency

'Improvements' may see closure of sorting office

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes' mail could be sorted in a new 'super' mail centre alongside post from Coventry and Northampton.

The move could mean the Milton Keynes Mail Centre, in Dawson Road, Mount Farm – where post from across the area is sorted – may be closed.

The proposals are some of those being pitched to Royal Mail staff and unions currently as part of a review of its mail processing operations in Milton Keynes.

One of the options is for the Dawson Road site to close.

Its processing operations would be transferred to a proposed new modern state-of-the-art mail centre between junctions 15 and 16 of the M1 in Northamptonshire in 2010.

This new 'super' mail centre may also process mail from Northampton and Coventry.

A Royal Mail spokesman said new technology will allow Royal Mail to process post more quickly.

"As announced in 2007, over the next few years the company will be making huge investments in the network, including new technology and equipment for mail centres," he said.

"The Milton Keynes Mail Centre site, as it stands, may not be suitable for the new technology and equipment needed because of its limited size and, as a result we are looking at a number of options for its future.

"We will be consulting with our people and unions over the next few weeks and will expect to make a decision on the review in the next month or so."

The spokesman guaranteed that the review does not affect delivery offices in Milton Keynes, which will remain open.

Should any changes happen, customers would not have to travel elsewhere to collect mail and deliveries would not be affected.

Mark Lancaster, MP for North East Milton Keynes said: "While I'm all in favour of improving mail services for the city, in light of the looming local Post Offices closures, I will be seeking reassurances that it is indeed improved mail services and not simply cost cutting that is the real motive here."

MAYLOCALELECTIONS

Make your vote count

THE message for this year's Milton Keynes Council elections is simple – get out there and vote and make local election history.

The council is hoping more people than ever before will vote on May 1.

It is looking for a 38 per cent turnout, more than 52,500 people, to make it a record year for voters.

Returning officer John Moffoot said: "In 2004 we were set a target by the Government to get figures up to 38 per cent in 2008. Last year we achieved 37.2 per cent, so we are getting closer."

There are 22,000 postal voters taking part in next months elections. While the voting will take place on Thursday, May 1, the counting will not take place until the next morning at Bletchley Leisure Centre.

As well as the borough council elections there are also eight parish council elections this time around.

The current make up of the council stands at Liberal Democrats 22, Conservatives 15 and Labour 14.

■ Over the past two weeks we have focused on the main political parties which have candidates in the May elections. As well as those there are also four independents standing: Nigel Birrel in Olney ward, James Buxton in Stantonbury, Paul Bartlett, Stony Stratford and Nida Syed in Loughton Park. The England First Party is also represented by Barry Taylor in Eaton Manor ward.

AGED 45

AGED 75

Facing the future

Reporter Rob Gibson finds out what he will look like as age takes its toll on his features

HANDS up who wants to see what they will look like in 20 years?

This is not a prospect most people would look forward to but for some reason I decided it might be amusing to take advantage of the latest technology which predicts your future appearance.

How wrong I was.

By trying to cheat time and predict the future I had clearly been punished.

Seeing the effects that ageing will have on your face is a shock but it is just one tool that plastic surgeons are now using to help people decide whether to go under the knife.

My journey into the future began last week when I received an email from a PR agency who wanted to promote a cosmetic surgery clinic located at the Saxon Clinic, a private hospital in Milton Keynes.

The e-mail said a local plastic surgeon had just launched a service called ChangeMyFace which can manipulate a photograph of someone to show what they might look like with their chosen treatment.

At this point I should probably point out that I am not even slightly concerned about my appearance, nor would I ever consider any form of plastic surgery.

But ChangeMyFace also offers image manipulation to age people by 10, 20, 30, 40 and even 50 years.

This ageing tool intrigued me and I wanted to find out who uses the service and what procedures people go for in Milton Keynes.

People can simply log on to a website (www.gatehouseclinic.co.uk) and email a photo of their face or body, stipulating what changes they would like to see.

I wanted to see what I will look like in 20 years and 50 years (aged 45 and 75).

For between £79 and £129 an expert will assess your photo in detail and alter your appearance according to your lifestyle.

The website says that the way you age will mainly depend on your genes, but will also be effected by external environmental factors such as diet, sunshine, exercise, smoking and stress.

I am 25, have no medical conditions, don't smoke, eat plenty of fruit and veg and I get lots of exercise.

But I snack on junk food, I work in a stressful industry and my maximum alcohol consumption is the equivalent of nine pints of beer a week.

According to ChangeMyFace, these negative factors will change my face considerably.

The signs of ageing in my photos include brown pigment spots due to sun exposure, sagging jowls, a receding hairline and greying hair.

It shows some weight gain due to the junk food and beer, made worse by the assumption that I will not be exercising as much when I get older.

They have also thrown in some broken spider veins, exacerbated by alcohol intake.

At least I can cling on to the fact that, looking at my parents and grandparents, the Gibson family has good genes that should combat my predicted jowls.

Once customers have seen their images they can book a free consultation with local plastic surgeon, Adrian Richards, who works at the Saxon Clinic in Eaglestone.

He is happy to meet people to discuss whether surgery is the right option or what precautions people might take to avoid the effects of ageing.

I asked the surgeon if he could suggest any changes I could make.

He said I did not require any sort of surgery, adding that 25-year-old men rarely need surgery.

Mr Richards advised me that a simple daily application of sun block would combat the signs of ageing, protecting my face from the dangerous effects of ultra violet rays from the sun.

Content that I merely need to stay fit and slap on a bit of sun block, I asked Mr Richards what sort of advice his other patients received.

He promptly pulled out a photo album filled with bigger boobs, smaller boobs, higher boobs, tummy tucks, face lifts, brow lifts and finally man boobs.

It appears that more and more men and women from Milton Keynes have been going under the knife.

"We're very busy," said Mr Richards.

"We realised there was demand for people wanting to know how they would look following surgery.

"The majority of people who come here are women between 30 and 60-years-old but the number of men is increasing.

"A lot of men look tired and want to look fresher.

"There is a lot of pressure for men at work to look youthful and there's discrimination towards them from younger people coming through."

For these men surgery might include a face lift, with prices starting at £6,950, or an eyelid lift, from £2,795.

A man boob reduction will set you back £4,500.

Mr Richards is used to performing around 200 breast enlargements a year but insists that his clients are not all desperate housewives.

He said: "They're just normal people - they're not rich.

"They're local and they just decide they don't like certain things about their appearance."

But there is a dangerous side to plastic surgery that Mr Richards is keen to highlight.

"If you want plastic surgery then do your research," he said.

"Some people want your money.

"I've seen a lot of people who have been abroad and had cheap surgery.

"They end up having problems.

"Ten per cent of people who have surgery do have problems but these are easily curable.

"You should use a recognised place like this."

This is definitely a top centre for surgery, as the packed photo album suggests, and the happy customers probably think the prices are worth it.

In the future I might have jowls but there might also be a miracle pill, rendering knives and stitches a caveman concept of the past.

Until then I think I will stick to the sun block.

Families aided by inquest volunteers

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

VOLUNTEERS are supporting grieving families as they go through the painful process of an inquest.

The scheme has been brought to Milton Keynes by the Coroner's Court Support Service (CCSS).

The charity is recruiting volunteers to give emotional and practical support to families and witnesses attending inquests, including representatives from the police and emergency services.

Wendy Reynolds, project manager for CCSS, is setting up the service at Milton Keynes coroner's court, which is usually held at the Civic Offices in Silbury Boulevard.

The service was first set up in London five years ago and, is now being spread through the Home Counties.

The Government provides £3,000 to get it started, but in future the service will be funded by donations to the charity.

"In their time of real trauma many families don't take a lot in and some people will have never been in a court before, particularly a coroners court," said Mrs Reynolds.

"All our volunteers are highly skilled and trained to give practical and emotional support and are given ongoing supervision and training."

The volunteers' training includes basic counselling, grieving awareness, how to deal with difficult behaviour, avoiding stereotyping and cultural awareness.

Pat Layer and Ann Yendle are the first two volunteers to start work in Milton Keynes.

Both have previous experience working with the public, Mrs Layer as a police officer and Mrs Yendle as a nurse.

"If you like meeting people it is a lovely thing to do," said Mrs Layer.

"Many of the people who come to inquests are quite daunted and scared, so we try to calm them down and make them feel comfortable. We show them the court room and explain what happens."

There if you need them: Ann Yendle and Pat Layer

Mrs Yendle added: "We can empathise with them and we also know when we are needed and when we are not. We don't want to impinge on people's grief as it is a personal thing and people deal with it in different ways.

"We are also there for witnesses, we are there for anyone in the court. We find it rewarding as it makes us feel that we still have a lot to offer."

Forum gives OAPs a voice

PENSIONERS are to have a new forum to express their views to the council.

Senior citizen groups and individuals are being invited to participate in the group, which will discuss council policy on issues including social care, housing, and transport.

The forum has been set up after six months of discussions between Milton Keynes Council, Milton Keynes Pensioners Association (MKPA) and Senior Voice Milton Keynes.

The plans have also been supported by Age Concern.

Peter Ballantyne, spokeman for MKPA said: "Councils across the country have already undertaken this exercise, as in future all councils will be assessed on how they involve their older population in forming policies that effect senior citizens.

"The forum will also seek to establish that the council appoints a councillor responsible for senior citizen issues."

For further details call Mr Ballantyne on 867942 or send your details to 'Older Persons Forum', c/o MKCIL, 330 Saxon Gate, Central Milton Keynes, MK9 2ES.

The first meeting is to be held in May.

Make three become four

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN all-girl pop group is searching for a new member to bring a 'new dimension' to their sound.

The MjeliK trio are holding auditions for a fourth member at The Holiday Inn, Central Milton Keynes on Sunday, May 4.

The girl band has recently received rave reviews for performances at Milton Keynes' Diversity ball, a half time performance at the stadiummk and a special performance at Kingsbrook College, Deanshanger.

Group member Natalie Chua, 15, is no stranger to success having received a platinum disc for over 500,000 album sales with Simon Cowell's Angelis.

"We are really enjoying ourselves at the moment, the other girls in the group are absolutely great, but we always set out to have a fourth member," said Natalie.

"Up until now, we have practised, recorded and performed as a trio, a fourth member would give us the all round vocal ranges that would make us totally unique in the music industry right now."

Eleven-year-old Natalie Kassanga, who was featured in MK NEWS recently when she won the prestigious national UK Unsigned competition, said she is excited about the future with MjeliK.

"I can't believe how many people have booked us to perform; we are due to be at loads of festivals and carnivals this summer," she said.

"We are lucky to have limousines take us to certain gigs and the songs we have written and recorded are really good pop songs."

Group manager Andy Jones said: 'We are looking for someone aged between 12 and 15 to add an extra dimension to the group. Ideally someone with a bit of performing experience, but definitely with the commitment and drive to be in a successful pop group.

Auditions are open to girls of all singing styles, ranges and experience. Hit www.mkvibe.com or contact Andy Jones on 07517 080 599.

Pub-owner chef sets out on canalside trek

A PUB owner who suffers from a painful rheumatic disease has started her walk from Milton Keynes to London.

Emma Gilchrist, head chef and owner of The Crooked Billet in Newton Longville plans to walk the 73 miles for nine days along the Grand Union Canal to the capital.

Emma, 37, suffers from ankylosing spondylitis (AS), a painful progressive rheumatic disease which mainly affects the spine but also takes affect in other joints, tendons and ligaments.

She was diagnosed in March 2007, but is believed to have been suffering from the disease for around 12 years.

"It affects my spine and the joints in my buttocks and hips," she said.

"The spine can fuse together and you can become more bent over.

"It is very painful and I need to take medication twice a day.

"I have been told that I am better off than some because I have an active job, if I was something like a secretary where you sit at a desk all day it could have been worse."

Emma is determined that the condition will not beat her and to let other AS sufferers know they are not alone.

She aims to raise £1,500 for The National Ankylosing Spondylitis Society (NASS).

Emma Gilchrist, chef and owner of The Crooked Billet, starts her walk to London, along the Grand Union Canal

"I wanted to give something back to the charity and, I will have this for the rest of my life so I want to prove that I can still do things and not let it take over my life.

"I also want to make more people know about and understand the condition as not many people are aware of it."

She will take on the challenge on her own, supported by her family following the route in a car.

Emma, who has owned the Crooked Billet with her husband for eight years, set off on the canal from Woughton on the Green yesterday and will finish in Central London next Wednesday.

Donations to NASS can be made by contacting Emma at the Crooked Billet on 01908 373936, or visiting www.justgiving.com/emmagilchrist1.

To find out more about the condition visit www.nass.co.uk.

For donations please call The Cropoked Billet. 01908 373 936 or visit Emma's webpage www.justgiving.com/emmacgilchrist1

City shortlisted in top town awards

MILTON Keynes might want to become a city – but it is in line to win an award for being a town.

It has reached the top 10 in The Academy of Urbanism's selection of contenders for The Great Town of the Year Award for 2009.

The three finalists for each category will be announced at the nominations dinner to be held at the Cutlers' Hall in Sheffield on May 15, 2008, to be followed by a process of visits and assessments during the summer months.

The ultimate winner will be announced at The Awards Ceremony to be held St George's Hall in Liverpool in November.

The academy looks for high quality public spaces, great architecture, effective civic government, vibrant local economies and strong community when making its decision.

To get this far, Milton Keynes was nominated by members of the public in an initial nationwide vote and survived the first cut by the academy's voting panel chaired by Kevin Murray, PPRTPI.

John Thompson, chairman of the academy said: "Everyone can recognise a great place, but it is harder to pinpoint what it is about our beautiful cities, towns, streets and places that makes us respond to them so positively.

"The Academy of Urbanism is developing ways of measuring what makes a great place great, so we can learn from them in the future. We think Milton Keynes is just such a great place."

■ The other nine competitors for the title of The Great Town of 2009 are Aberaeron, Armagh, Bury St Edmunds, Chichester, Darlington, Lichfield, Reading, Richmond and Stirling.

There were calls for the Queen to name MK a city during her visit in November last year

Teenager sent text messages to his ex-girlfriend before hanging himself

A TEENAGER found hanged in a tree near his home sent a string of text messages to his ex-girlfriend moments before he died, an inquest has heard.

The body of Johnathan Brennan, 19, was discovered in the communal gardens behind his home on Downs Barn Boulevard, Downs Barn, on Saturday, April 12.

At the opening of an inquest into the death on Friday, Coroner Rodney Corner said that text messages found on Jonathan's mobile phone could provide vital clues into the death.

Coroner's clerk Sonya Jackson said: "On Friday Johnathan went out drinking with some friends but they didn't see him leave.

"At 1am he spoke to his ex-girlfriend and sent her text messages. Police were called after a man was found hanging from a tree in the gardens."

Mr Corner said a lot of text messages were sent in the early hours of Saturday morning, before Johnathan, who worked as a building renderer, was found dead at 6.20am.

His funeral took place yesterday . A full inquest will be held in July.

Man v horse v pedal power in cash-raising race

FANS of horsepower, pedal power and manpower are about to find out which is the fastest when they take part in a novel race this Saturday.

The 10km race, through Milton Keynes' parks, is open to all walkers, runners, cyclists and horseriders wanting to test themselves in a fun day out, providing they raise a minimum of £10 sponsorship.

There are prizes in each category, plus a top prize of a free website for the entrant raising the most in sponsorship with all money going to the Stantonbury-Tanzania school exchange.

But everyone is a winner with medals and goody bags going to every entrant. The race starts at Great Linford Memorial Hall.

Have a say on Broughton

COUNCIL planners are calling on the public to comment on the best ways to protect the historic Victorian estate village of Broughton from unsuitable development.

A six-week consultation with residents and other interested parties started on Monday.

The Broughton conservation area of the village, first designated in 1978, is being reviewed to make sure the planning controls are still relevant.

The review will also help residents and developers take Broughton's special character into account when applying for planning permission.

The village was built by the Tyringham family to serve the local manor and is a fine example of a Victorian brick built estate village surrounding a green with a listed red telephone box, church and rectory.

Senior council planning officer for conservation and design, Martin Ellison, said: "The idea of a conservation area is to protect the overall character of the village while at the same time allowing it to evolve."

The proposed conservation plan can be viewed at local libraries where residents can request a comments form or accessed via the internet at: http://consultation.limehouse.co.uk/milton-keynes

All comments on the review must be received by the development plans team no later than 5.30pm on Monday, June 2, 2008.

■ If you need further information or assistance contact the council's design and conservation team on 01908-252599 or e-mail: design-conservation@milton-keynes.gov.uk

Spot a woodpecker

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

DO you know your willow warbler from your great spotted woodpecker, or your primrose from your periwinkle?

If not, join The Parks Trust to learn more about wildlife and identify the flowers, birds and animals that live on your doorstep.

The trust, which takes care of the city's parks and green spaces, is organising a series of short courses for adults to provide a beginner's introduction to our native wildlife.

Each course involves a short walk in a local park looking at either woodland birds, wildflowers, moths, trees, tawny owls or our hedgerows.

These short introductions are for anyone who loves wildlife and would like to recognize and name different species.

Each course takes two hours and costs £2.50 per person.

Wild at heart: An old lime tree in Linford Manor Park

Alternatively all six courses can be booked for £10. The series starts on Saturday, April 26 and runs over six months, with the last course on Sunday, September 21.

All are on evenings or weekends.

Booking is essential as places are limited. Call 01908 255379 or visit www.theparkstrust.com for more information

Lone parents' work project

LONE parents are being helped back to work under a new project to build confidence among the long term unemployed.

Since the project started last year, 36 lone parents have found work.

The project provides training and advice to lone parents who have not worked for some time.

The parents, who all live in Milton Keynes, are putting their talents to work in a wide range of jobs, which include receptionist, administrator, retail assistant, finance assistant, teaching assistant, adult education tutor, carer and clinical adviser.

Parents have received personal careers guidance and received training to improve their confidence and self esteem as well as direct job training.

Employment support officer, Tina Strutton, said: "Contrary to popular belief, most lone parents want to work so they can do the best for their children and themselves. Many lone parents can become depressed at home, struggling to cope on their own, and need a lot of support to convince them that they have something to offer potential employers."

Mayor backs Little Lives

THE city's mayor has backed a campaign to raise funds for Milton Keynes Hospital's neonatal unit.

Cllr Mike Barry met staff at the unit recently to learn more about the plans.

The Little Lives Appeal has raised £18,000 so far. The fund-raising target of £250,000 will go towards a full refurbishment and redesign to help save the lives of more premature and critically ill babies born around Milton Keynes.

For more information about the appeal log on to www.mkhospital.nhs.uk/about/fundraising

Real nappy rush

NEW parents wanting to 'go green' could save money and help protect the environment by switching to real nappies.

The real nappy scheme was relaunched at a baby fashion show and will highlight how mums can get extra cash back to help make the switch to real nappies even easier to afford.

The babies modelled the latest in trendy real nappies at the show today at The Guildhall Room at Church of Christ the Cornerstone as part of Real Nappy Week (April 21-25).

The event, run in partnership with Milton Keynes Council and pre-school learning company Gymboree, aimed to make parents aware of the benefits, both to the environment and to their pockets, of switching from disposable nappies.

A baby can expect to go through up to 6,000 nappies during its early years and nappy waste currently accounts for 2.6 per cent of all household rubbish that ends up in landfill sites.

Paul Mocroft, council waste reduction officer, said: "Parents using real nappies will now be able to claim £35 cash-back, or £40 if they are on benefits.

"The great thing about the cash-back scheme is that parents who make the green choice are rewarded with the money that the council saved by not putting their disposable nappy waste in the landfill site. "

The fashion show also highlighted the convenience and cost benefits of real nappies while picking out some potential catwalk stars of the future!

Real nappies can come in many bright colours and are cheaper than disposables.

■ For more on the cash-back scheme or for help and advice on real nappies e-mail realnappies @milton-keynes.gov.uk or call 01908 25 45 93. www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/realnappies

New look at poet and preacher museum

The Cowper and Newton Museum, in Olney

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MUSEUM celebrating the lives of a poet and a preacher will reopen with a day of talks and tours.

The Cowper and Newton Museum, in Olney, will launch the 2008 season with its annual Cowper and Newton Day on Saturday April 26, following completion of an intensive programme of work over the winter break.

The museum, which was founded in 1900, commemorates the poet William Cowper who lived in the museum building from 1768-1786 and his friend John Newton, ex-slave trader, hymn-writer, and campaigner for the abolition of the slave trade.

It also holds an important local history collection and has beautiful period gardens which contain Cowper's original summer house.

In 2006, with the help of the Heritage Lottery Fund and donations from local residents, the museum was able to acquire the last important collection of William Cowper memorabilia still in private hands.

This success attracted further funding, enabling it to undertake an ambitious programme of refurbishment and redisplay.

The story of the Cowper and Newton is now told through a series of colourful interpretation panels.

All the objects – paintings, books, manuscripts, personal belongings – are newly displayed, with the latest in lighting and display cases to show them at their best and, there are audio points with readings from their work. Whole rooms are devoted in turn to their family and friends, their domestic life, their writings and, in John Newton's case, his progress from blasphemer and slave trader to inspirational preacher and abolitionist.

The local history section has now become the Olney Museum, separated from the Cowper and Newton collection and housed in the rooms above the shop.

Here you can browse through the geology and archaeology of the town, the Romans, the Anglo-Saxons, the Civil War, World War Two, and the lace making and boot and shoe trades which were so important to the area.

Space has also been created for an educational resource centre and for an exhibition gallery known as 'The Three Hares Gallery' which will be available free of charge for use by community groups.

The programme of free talks and tours available on Saturday April 26 can be found at www.mkheritage.co.uk by following the link to Cowper & Newton Museum, Olney or by calling 01234 711516.

Hospital wait
ON Thursday we reported on the web how patients waiting for non-urgent treatment at Milton Keynes Hospital should only have to wait 18 weeks according to new targets.

Milton Keynes Hospital NHS Foundation Trust is working with Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust (MKPCT) to meet the target by December 2008.

MKPCT has invested £2 million into an 'End Waiting, Change Lives' project.

Hard work pays off
A NEW games area opened in Stony Stratford due to the hard work of local youngsters.

A launch event was held at the Wolverton Road Recreation Ground when local MP Dr Phyllis Starkey officially opened the new basketball and football area.

The youngsters who ran the project raised £75,000. They were rewarded with a day of basketball coaching by the MK Lions.

Teenager hanged
A TEENAGER found hanged in a tree near his home sent a string of text messages to his ex-girlfriend moments before he died, an inquest heard.

The body of Johnathan Brennan, 19, was discovered in the communal gardens behind his home on Downs Barn Boulevard, Downs Barn, on Saturday, April 12.

Dons promoted
THE Dons were promoted. Our sports team had pictures and a report from the crucial match in Stockport on the website within minutes of the final whistle on Saturday.

Ur fired have a nice day

WHETHER it is sacking staff by text message or dumping your partner by e-mail, digital communication has made us a nation of cowards, according to a new report out.

The findings by Post Office Telecoms show that many Milton Keynes residents are maintaining that famous British reserve by relying on text messages and e-mail to get themselves out of sticky situations with 82 per cent of people admitting to delegating difficult tasks at work by e-mail and text, and 48 per cent using these forms of technology to contact new business prospects.

In the Milton Keynes workplace people admit to relying on e-mail and texting for all manner of awkward tasks, including:

- Apologising for mistakes – 47 per cent
- Resigning from a job – 9 per cent
- Firing and employing – 4 per cent

The report also reveals that nationally five per cent of people have called in sick by text or e-mail in the last 12 months.

This figure is even higher for young people (aged 18-34) with 14 per cent using these forms of communication – possibly to avoid any awkward questions about the state of their health or who will be covering for them in their absence.

A quarter of this age group felt it was fine for them to report their sickness by text or e-mail.

The report also reveals that three per cent of UK adults admit to ending a relationship by text in the last year.

This rises to one in seven in the 18-24 age group admitting breaking up with a partner by texting.

However, just one per cent of over 55 chose this as their preferred method of dumping, favouring the old fashioned face-to-face approach.

Stewart Fox-Mills, head of telephony at the Post Office, said: "Digital technology is constantly giving us new ways to communicate. "But we've found that many people are using technology to keep a 'digital distance' and avoid face-to-face confrontation."

Juan & Tammie Medina have been running The Bridge Inn since October 2007 and have had great success in revitalising this once great establishment with a comprehensive A la carte menu, Bar snacks menu and their now infamous 15 Minute lunchtime menu. In addition to these menus they run a very popular Steak Night on Wednesday evenings with a 8oz rump steak with home-made chips tomato and mushrooms for just £5.50 or 2 for £10. They also do a Tapas Night on a Thursday evening where you can get 2 tasty Tapas dishes for the price of one. The A la Carte and bar snacks menus are also available on these nights.

This year Juan and Tammie are taking their guests on a culinary would tour cooking food and serving drinks from such places as America, India, Russia and Australia, where Juan will be cooking a sheep shearers BBQ with the centre piece being a whole roasted lamb as well as a selection of other iconic Australian foods (another shrimp for the barby). Every Sunday The Bridge Inn serves Sunday lunch with a choice of roasted meats, a fish dish and a vegetarian dish. The roast lunch comes in a choice of sizes from a £5.99 Tammie-sized lunch to the £9.99 Big Daddy (Juan-Sized lunch).

The Canal View Conservatory has been a great hit in the last 6 months with weddings and birthday parties enjoying our food from a £4.50 per head buffet, formal sit-down occasions to Hog Roasts. The Conservatory has also been popular with local businesses using it as a meeting room with its multimedia systems as well as team building events, and Juan and Tammie are now offering free hire of the room to local businesses who join (for free) their Business Club.

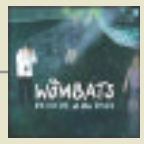
MUSIC REVIEWS

BACKFIRE AT THE DISCO

Wombats



MANY years ago, Cliff Richard's music was bought by all sorts of people instead of the hardcore support he has these days, and because Cliff was all over the radio like a dropped trifle, if he wanted to act like the coolest kid on the planet, he was perfectly entitled to do so.

In 1981, Cliff's idea of cool involved roller-skating with his friends around the fledgling Milton Keynes, namely the World's Biggest Greenhouse (now known as thecentre:mk), a couple of underpasses and one of the few office blocks that existed at the time, and while he was doing this he was singing a song about how great he thought personal cassette players were or something. Rock and roll, man.

With all that going for it, it's no wonder the song was a top chart smash, and I bet John Lewis were chuffed to bits with the free advertising they were getting.

But hold on just a second, isn't this meant to be a review of the new Wombats single? Well, it is, but the reason I bring up Sir Cliff's early-80s achievements is that the Wombats have paid tribute to his Wired For Sound video by recreating it, even adding mid-80s Top Of The Pops-style on-screen graphics into the bargain. Marvellous.

Of course, all this is meaningless if you don't care about the video, so it's a good job the song's up to their usual standard.

4 MINUTES

Madonna and Justin Timberlake

YEAH, so it's taken a few weeks to get round to reviewing this, by which time you already know what it sounds like, therefore rendering any descriptions I may give irrelevant. Job's a good 'un, innit?

If I'm honest with you, I much prefer Disco Madonna to R&B Madonna, compared to Hung Up and Jump this sounds a little bit laboured. And something else I can't understand is the two of them singing 'We've only got four minutes to save the world'.

For one thing, what sort of a catastrophe would have to happen to leave Madonna (49) and Justin Timberlake (formerly of N'Sync) with the immense responsibility of ensuring the survival of the planet?

And for another, why, if they know how long they've got, are they singing about what they need to do instead of doing it? See, that's just the sort of slapdash attitude that gets people killed.

THE MISBEGOTTEN

Charlatans

THERE aren't many bands around who could put out a song that sounds like a shotgun wedding between New Order and Franz Ferdinand and get away with it, and a few years ago I certainly wouldn't have considered the Charlatans as being one of the few bands capable of such an achievement.

Funny old world, isn't it?

In fact, not only have they got away with it, they've managed to do it with the best single since Love Is The Key and, there's no getting around it, this is the best thing I've ever heard from the Charlatans.

It's got a nice quiet start, but gradually the tune kicks in and when it does that's it, there's no messing about, Tim Burgess and friends go disco (sort of) for four minutes and sound as though they're having a great time doing so. What's more, for a band who had their first hit single 18 years ago, you'd never know it from hearing this song. If anything, it sounds more up-to-date than any of the singles listed above it. This really is fantastic stuff.

MKGALLERY

CATHY WILKES

Until June 8

CATHY Wilkes' work is characterised by the creation of a slowly emerging personal vocabulary of sculptures and paintings that the artist makes and re-makes in evolving assemblages and environments.

Her processes are measured and refined and draw on the most intimate of personal experiences to create a compelling autobiographical thread coupled with a precise and liberated formal language.

A Sony television, a Maclaren baby buggy, a jar of Bonne Maman apricot preserve for example, all appear in her installations as a catalogue of ready-mades.

The installations "are in such a state of perpetual change in which repetition relates more to the biological rather than to the industrial...

"Central to the feminine sphere is the notion of invisible labour, present in all aspects of everyday life yet kept outside of the systems of material and symbolic gratification."

MKFACTOR

ARE you a performing artist who can offer that bit of star quality?

If so then Kik Music wants to hear from you.

Last years MK Factor which was part of the city's 40th Anniversary Celebrations went down so well that KiK Music have been approached to do it again this year.

Shahnaz Hussain-Hall director of the event's organisers was overwhelmed by the standard of performers who attended last years event and is hoping that this year will prove to be even more fruitful.

Organisers want to encourage as many different types of performers to come forward this year and particularly want to find street acts, magicians, fire-eaters, puppeteers and mime artists as well as dancers, musicians and singers.

In conjunction with Yamaha, MK Dons, MK Theatre and The Ramada Encore prizes include a weekend's recording with KiK Music, a night for two at The Ramada Encore, plus the chance to perform at The MK Theatre, The World Picnic and The Big Moo Weekend.

So dust down the tap shoes, warm up the vocal chords, tune up the old fiddle, in fact whatever it takes and get down to The Ramada Encore on Saturday and Sunday. Places are limited, so register early.

PIZZA EXPRESS

142-144 Midsummer Arcade, centre:mk
01908 241100
Reviewed by Laura Hannam

PIZZA Express has launched a fresh new menu for the spring season.

The new dishes include three new varieties of the restaurant's crispy, ultra-thin Romana pizzas, two new pastas and three light starters.

I began by having the Bruschetta del Sole (3.95), a freshly baked dough topped with Italian tomatoes, basil leaves, extra virgin olive oil, sweet roasted yellow peppers and basil pesto.

The seasonally-selected tomatoes were extremely fresh and juicy and the pesto complimented the dish nicely.

My guest ordered the Ramiro al Forno (£4.95), a sweet ramiro pepper filled and baked with mozzarella, goat's cheese, parsley, garlic butter and breadcrumbs, served with spinach and balsamic syrup.

For the main course I ordered the Pollo Pancetta (£9.25) Romana pizza, which was topped with torn chicken breast, sweet roasted yellow peppers, smoked pancetta and parsley.

Instead of tomato, this is served on a pepperonata base made with red and yellow peppers.

The base was thin and crispy - just how I like it - and the topping was slightly spicy. Although the pizza was too big for my appetite I was happy to take some home.

My guest ordered the Pinglestone (£9.25) Romana pizza, which was topped with smoked pancetta and a free range egg, watercress leaves and shavings of grana padano cheese.

The recipe won 'Best International Dish' at the 2006 Watercress Festival award. My guest said it was very light and well flavoured.

I finished the meal with fresh strawberries topped with a surprisingly delicious blend of honey and fresh yoghurt, finished with toasted pine kernels, chocolate flakes and fresh mint (£4.25) and my guest ordered the cheesecake (£4.10).

All of the courses were light, with beautifully fresh tasting ingredients and perfect for the spring season.

They can also be enjoyed in the restaurant's new conference room, which can be hired out for business meetings, interviews, birthdays and other events and offers its own private bar.

Great day out day a racing cert

MORE than 160 people enjoyed VIP hospitality at Towcester Racecourse recently at Milton Keynes Chamber of Commerce 'Day at the Races' event.

The event on April 10 was in support of the YMCA in Milton Keynes and saw a number of local companies bringing their own guests to enjoy a sumptuous lunch with free-flowing wine before enjoying the afternoon's full race card.

The British weather held out for most of the afternoon to see off a total of seven well-supported races, three of which were sponsored by some of the companies attending including Alps Electronic UK Manufacturing, Baker Tilly and Black Box Network Services.

The hospitality stand at Towcester Racecourse has a commanding view across the entire course and after placing their bets, guests moved on to the balcony area to cheer home their horses. The Alps sponsored race featured only lady jockeys and they were greeted with great applause as they entered the parade ring before the race. Peter Woodland, managing director of Alps Electronic UK, had the enviable task of picking the best turned out horse beforehand and then the honour of presenting the trophy to the winning jockey after an exciting race.

As the first corporate hospitality event of 2008, Milton Keynes Chamber of Commerce believes that these types of events give chamber members the opportunity to both promote their own businesses to a wider audience and to entertain clients and staff members.

Fiona McKerlie, executive director at the chamber, said: "This type of event is a great day out for our members but is also an important promotional and motivational tool. Other corporate hospitality events are planned for 2008, and the support we have had today from our membership in support of the Milton Keynes YMCA has been incredible."

The YMCA reaches out to more than one million young people each year and provides support in areas such as housing, education and skills, safety, fitness, citizenship and personal development.

Every YMCA association in England is autonomously managed and works to meet the specific needs of young people in their local communities.

Visitor guide launch at birthday bash

MORE than 70 guests celebrated at Destination Milton Keynes second birthday bash.

Destination Milton Keynes (DMK), the official provider of tourism services for Milton Keynes and the surrounding area, launched the city's first destination guide and leisure map at a special birthday celebration at stadiummk. The celebration, which was attended by more than 70 guests, marks the organisation's continued success as the UK's first independently-operated tourist information service.

With over 60 members from across the region, DMK offers key tourism services to help promote and develop Milton Keynes as a destination for business and leisure. As part of its marketing campaign to champion the city, a comprehensive glossy destination guide has been produced to inform visitors of the wide range of activities available from heritage and arts, nightlife, sporting activities and family entertainment.

The A4-sized guide also includes a section for doing business in the city which highlights the extent of Milton Keynes business offering. The guide advises visitors that the city offers some of the best venues in the UK including 30 hotels, four dedicated conference centres, 10 sporting arenas and 15 unusual venues all with meeting and conference facilities.

"We are very excited about the launch of the destination guide which will now be distributed among our members and through public information services across the country," said Jackie Inskipp, general manager at Destination Milton Keynes.

Pete Winkelman, chairman of MK Dons and a founder member of Destination Milton Keynes spoke at the event: "We are very proud to mark our second birthday with this significant achievement. It demonstrates that by working together we are stronger in championing Milton Keynes."

Two signed MK Dons' shirts were auctioned at the event raising £350 for RNLI and MK MIND. The proud owners are now Robert Watts, general manager at Hilton hotel and John Emberton, chairman at Emberton Dale.

Be engaged, be valued and be happy

UK workers spend an average of 40 hours a week at work.

As we spend more time at work than with our friends and family it is no surprise that being happy at work is important to most of us.

However, according to a recent survey 24 per cent of the UK office based workforce is unhappy at work.

With more and more demands at work, it is becoming increasingly difficult for employers to manage performance and for employess to meet their employer's expectations.

So what should employees do to get more out of their life and work?

In a survey 97 per cent of managers said that coaching should be made availabel to all staff, no matter what their status or position within an organisation.

Wendy Dashwood Quick, personal coach from Resolution coaching, said: "Many employers are starting to adopt coaching techniques to manage performance and ensure their employees are engaged, valued and and therefore happier."

Wendy has been a life coach for the last four years and has seen many changes to the job market in this time.

"It's predicted that more than 500,000 British workers will suffer work related stress at a level that will make them ill, so it is even more important that employees and their staff take time out to discover who they are, what they want and where they are going," she said.

Wendy has spent months studying this challenge and has come up with some great tips for a blossoming career.

■ Taking action is the first step in taking control. Get your time management and environment under control and reduce your stress levels.

■ Identity what your needs are and ensure these get met in a healthy way.

■ Learn from the past. What did you once do that you don't do now? Rediscovering a hobby or a passion lights the fuse and gives meaning and purpose to your existence, both in and outside of work.

■ Develop beliefs that support you. If you are running your life based on an unsupportive belief then you need to ask yourself who gave that to you and is it still relevant, is it just an old programme that needs upgrading?

■ Define your values – the bedrock of who you are. Get clear on what matters to you, what's important to you and see how differently other people start to treat you.

■ Raise your self esteem by improving your body language and voice.

Communication is so crucial, highly undervalued and yet so incredibly powerful.

■ Clarify your vision – you get what you focus on so make sure it's amazing!

MK MOTORING

Dream machine

YOU can't help but have noticed Honda's global theme – The Power of Dreams – that appears on all its advertising.

It means not only coming up with new ideas but also having the determination to turn them into reality. Nowhere is that more relevant than in the development of the new Honda Civic.

The company set out to create a car that brought the themes of the outgoing model – comfort, unrivalled passenger space and an outstanding driving experience – right up to date. Honda's design engineers knew the compact hatchback segment had got tougher than ever, with some excellent competitor vehicles.

To stand out from the crowd they realised the new Civic needed to be more individual and have a much stronger style.

In short, it needed to be completely different to anything else on the road.

And that's exactly what they came up with. The low, wide and muscular stance of the five-door car, with its sleek and coupe-like shape, initially raised a few eyebrows.

But this cutting edge design was quickly accepted and the Civic has established itself as one of the 'must-consider' models for every potential customer.

With three engines – two petrol, one diesel – there's a model for every taste and pocket. All provide levels of driveability, fuel efficiency, emissions and performance that reinforce Honda's reputation for outstanding under-the-bonnet technology.

Each comes with a six-speed manual gearbox as standard, but the two petrol units are available with an i-SHIFT automated manual selector.

The most popular petrol is the 1.8-litre i-VTEC delivering 140PS. It can get the Civic to 62mph in 8.9 seconds and goes on to a top speed of 127mph. But that's not thirsty work for this car; it still returns an outstanding 44.1mpg fuel economy. Below it is the 1.4-litre i-DSI offering 83PS. Its performance figures are 14.6 seconds and 106mph, with an even better fuel economy of 47.9mpg.

But if it's miles for your money that's required, Honda's award-winning 2.2-litre i-CTDi is now available in the Civic for the first time. The 140PS powerplant returns an exceptional 55.4mpg.

Combined with a 0-62mph time of 8.6 seconds and 127mph top speed, it's a truly extraordinary car.

Honda's safety reputation is second to none, and all five-door Civics come with twin front and side airbags, Vehicle Stability Assist (VSA), anti-lock brakes with Electronic Brakeforce Distribution (EBD). There are even ISOFIX child restraint couplings to help keep the kids safe.

Honda Civic 5-door

Additional features on every car include remote keyless entry, electric door mirrors, powered windows, a height-adjustable driver's seat and tilt/telescopic steering wheel.

The five different trim levels – S, SE, Sport, ES and EX – each add new equipment, but flagship models have every conceivable convenience feature such as dual-zone climate control, cruise control, a leather steering wheel, front fog lamps and a voice-activated DVD satellite navigation system.

Whether you're looking for a versatile family car, or just a spacious and practical hatchback that meets all your requirements, the unique five-door Honda Civic should be on your shopping list.

BRADFORD CITY
League Two
Saturday, April 26. KO 3pm
Coral Windows Stadium

THIS could be a title-winning day for MK Dons.

With two games left the Dons have the League Two championship within touching distance, all they need is three points at Bradford City.

The Dons are four points clear of second placed Peterborough and know their fate is in their own hands as a win will clinch the title regardless of Posh's result at Grimsby.

Bradford's mixed home form, ten wins, eight defeats and four draws, combined with the Dons' phenomenal away record of 17 wins would have Paul Ince's men down as firm favourites.

If the Bantams play like they did when they visited stadiummk in October then they may as well hand out the winners' medals themselves.

Bradford's shut-shop tactics failed to pay off as Keith Andrews and Danny Swailes helped the Dons to a 2-1 victory.

On that day Bradford provided very little threat, their only response came in the last minute through Barry Conlon's penalty.

But striker Peter Thorne has found form of late with four goals in his last five matches.

For Bradford the remainder of the season has no bearings on their position next year, they can not reach the play-off and they can not get relegated.

Season tickets same

LEAGUE One football will come at exactly the same cost next season for Dons fans.

Next season an adult can watch 23 league games from as little as £255, concessions from £165 and juniors from £165. Under-7s go free with a paying adult.

'The Big Freeze' started on Monday for current season ticket holders who can renew at this season's price with first preference on their own seat.

Current season ticket holders will have until Friday, May 30 to take up the discount. It will be opened to new season ticket applications from May, 6 until June, 30.

MK Dons reserves lost 1-0 to Stevenage Borough in a lacklustre affair at stadiummk on Monday night.

The Dons fell a goal behind on the 8th minute when Wayne O'Sullivan found a way through.

Apart from the goal Stevenage, with former Dons midfielder Junior Lewis in their side, provided little to add to the score line.

There were chances for the Dons to get back into proceedings, John Miles forced Boro's goalie Chris Adams in to action on several occasion while Jemal Johnson also sung his fingertips.

While the result may not have been in the Dons' favour, onlooking manager Paul Ince would have been happy to see Craig Dobson return from injury.

THOUSANDS of Dons fans turned out to meet the victorious Johnstone's Paint Trophy team.

Keith Andrews, Paul Ince and Pete Winkelman were on hand, alongside the rest of the Dons squad, were on hand at stadiummk on Monday to sign merchandise at the launch of the Wembley commemorative DVD entitled The Big Day Out.

The DVD features the Johnstone's Paint Trophy Final against Grimsby Town in full, post match interviews, photos from the day and Paul Mitchell's video diary of all the events before and after.

Supporters can purchase the DVD, priced £12.99, now from www.mkdons.com

Flying tonight: Keith Andrews ghosts in to chip keeper Joe Ruddy to hit MK Dons promotion-winning third goal

Ding-dong sees Dons promoted

We all like chips – and skipper Keith Andrews served up the perfect one to clinch promotion

BY SIMONE CORGAN

Keith Andrews accepts the applause for his promotion-winning goal

THE Champagne was finally taken off ice on Saturday when MK Dons secured League One status with a 3-2 win at Stockport County.

It had been a long time coming for the Dons, who could have clinched promotion a week earlier had results gone their way, and the celebrations sparked at the end of the game showed how far the club has come this season.

Few could dream of promotion and a cup in one season, but the reality is the Dons' record breaking season could be even better as the League Two title is still up for grabs.

And heading into the final two games of the season with a four point advantage, who would bet against them scooping the double?

The four point cushion could have been slashed to two at Edgeley Park had Stockport not fallen asleep on two occasions after scoring and Keith Andrews not shown terrific desire to grab the winner.

Twice the Dons fell behind in the game yet the fighting spirit was evident as they struck level within a minute of conceding.

An absorbing encounter between the sides, with Stockport needing a win to keep their automatic promotion hopes alive, came to life on the half-an-hour mark.

County's Liam Dickinson, who was a lively threat throughout, took complete advantage of a static Dons defence as he collected from the right and slotted under Willy Gueret.

But the goal fired the Dons into action.

Andrews, at the heart of every move, created the leveller with a break down the flank that allowed him to tee-up for Mark Wright.

County's keeper Joe Ruddy had no chance as Wright sent a curling flyer into the top corner, it set the match up perfectly.

More twists and turns followed after the break when Stockport regained their lead and lost it in two swift movements.

Dominic Blizzard, the man whose contract fell apart with the Dons last summer, out muscled Alan Navarro, a rare feat in itself, and laid on for Adam Proudlock.

Proudlock had been on the pitch for a matter of minutes and with his first touch he had put Stockport 2-1 up.

However, Navarro made amends for his goal-costing error when the Dons were straight back up the other end, his first drill was parried by Ruddy but the midfielder made no mistake with his follow up. Yet again honours were even.

Gueret preserved the score line with two terrific saves on his line, both instinctive.

It was always going to take something special to win the match and that moment of magic came from the Dons' skipper.

Andrews latched onto a sloppy error by his counterpart, Gareth Owen, raced ahead and, with Ruddy well off his line, coolly chipped over the keeper for the Dons to take the lead for the first time.

Stockport's top three finish now lies in the balance, whether the Dons play them next year remains to be seen.

The Dons do know they will have another derby day with Northampton Town to look forward to following their two year absence from League One.

FANS' FAVOURITE WRITES FOR YOU

PAUL MITCHELL

WHAT a fitting way to win promotion by beating the in-form team and twice coming from behind to clinch victory.

I don't think you could have put a better match on show to demonstrate what this team is all about.

Once again the boys showed tremendous character and that trait has been a massive ingredient in the success we have achieved this year.

For me, the game really did sum up our season. Again we showed that willingness to want to get the ball down and play, on what was a very bad pitch.

I think, after the season he has had, it was very fitting to see the skipper race through and finish off what has been an unbelievable campaign, but it hasn't finished just yet!

You could see how much it meant to the staff, players and chairman at the final whistle – all the hard training sessions and long away trips have paid off.

It's times like these that you really have to savour and enjoy every bit of what can only be described as an unbelievable season.

I really can't state strongly enough the fantastic job the Gaffer has done, he really has created something special not only at the football club but also around the actual city of Milton Keynes.

He hasn't done this alone though and the Gaffer will be first to tell you that his backroom staff deserve a lot of credit.

It has been very much a team effort with everybody playing their part.

Whether it be playing or just supporting a fellow team mate, it has been a pleasure to be around and just witness what has become a big part of MK Dons' history.

With two games to go and the title in sight, the Gaffer and the boys want nothing more than to be promoted as champions. I for one believe we have been the best team in the division this season and I'm sure we will do everything in our power to finish the campaign on a high.

BASKETBALL

Between the Rocks and a play-off place

TONIGHT MK Lions could book themselves a place in the BBL play-off semi-finals but Scottish Rocks are standing in their way.

The Lions, who finished fourth in the regular British Basketball League, have had the better of the Rocks twice this season yet the Rocks did record a convincing 89-67 victory over the Lions in February and finished just two points behind them in fifth.

Vince Macauley will be hoping his side can turn their back on a poor run of form which has seen them win once in six matches.

He can take comfort from knowing his team are able to put on a show when they need to, just like they did against Newcastle when they lifted the BBL Cup earlier this year.

Preparations for the clash have not been the best as they let slip a half-time lead of seven points to lose by four to Plymouth Raiders.

But that result has been swept under the carpet, right now MK Lions are focused on the job in front of them and coach Macauley is relishing playing the big game in front of the Lions faithful.

"We like playing at Bletchley," he said, "we are pleased to be in a home game but we are not satisfied, we were not sure who we would be facing, Rocks or Sharks till the last minute. Either way any team you face in the top eight of the BBL will be tough, we expect the Rocks to throw everything at us in the game just as we will with them."

"I am over the moon that our record breaking season is not over yet, we have won a trophy for the first time, we have got home advantage for the first time, they say things come in three's perhaps we could win the whole thing!"

■ TIP-OFF at Bletchley Leisure Centre is at 7pm, the game is also on Setanta Sports 2.

RUGBY

Whitewash sees Olney promoted

OLNEY sealed promotion to the South West Two East division in style with a romping 43-0 victory over Beaconsfield.

They won the Southern Counties North league with 37 points coming courtesy of 18 wins and only three defeats.

Right from the offset Olney dominated as Ian Bennent emerged the first try scorer of the afternoon when the forwards drove over early in the match.

Any chances Beaconsfield had of a quick response went out the window when their scrum half was sent to the sin bin and Olney, in front of a large home crowd, took advantage through a wonderful try started and finished by Rhys Peakman.

Jack Sutton added further to Beaconsfield woes when he pounced on a loose ball to score and Dave Smith converted taking the half-time lead to 17-0.

The second half continued in the same manner with Peakman linking well with Will Edwards before crossing the line and Duncan Taylor then adding the fifth.

Prop Ollie Brackenbury bundled over but it was Smith's brilliant touch line conversion that earned the applause.

Taylor, scoring his second of the match, finished the impressive display and sparked the party scenes as Olney confirmed they were the best in the league.

If you would like to join Olney's men's or women's rugby side log on to www.olneyrfc.co.uk.

■ MK's season did not end quite so well as they lost 28-14 to Wallingford.

The defeat meant MK finished fourth. Centre pairing Dave Matthews and Timothy Parkinson scored MK's tries but Wallingford's four ensured they took the points.

stadiummk could host top rugby game

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

PREMIERSHIP rugby club Saracens are set to play in Milton Keynes.

But it all hinges on Watford Football Club's progression in the Championship.

Saracens could be forced out of Vicarage Road, the stadium they ground share with Watford, for one game only as a clash of fixtures may occur.

Should Watford, currently looking for a route back to the Premier League, finish in fifth or sixth place then they will play at home on Saturday, May 10. That date coincides with Saracens' last game of the Guinness Premiership season against Bristol.

With nowhere to play Sarries will be forced to up sticks to Milton Keynes and play at MK Dons' stadiummk.

Saracens contacted MK Dons and both clubs are on standby to finalise the plans depending on Watford's league position come the end of the regular football season.

A spokesman for Saracens said: "Saracens are currently looking at the MK Dons Stadium in Milton Keynes as an alternative venue in the event that the match does need to be moved from Vicarage Road."

It is not the first time Saracens, who moved from Enfield to Watford in 1997, have hosted a game north of their ground.

In 2004 their 'home' match with Bath was played at Northampton's Franklin's Gardens.

But if they were to grace the turf in Milton Keynes it would be the first rugby match to be played at stadiummk.

The top quality pitch has been designed so that it can accommodate rugby, as well as football.

A spokesman for MK Dons added: "The stadium was always planned as a multi-purpose venue to bring the world's sporting elite to Milton Keynes, and this potential event would provide the opportunity to test its rugby facilities at a convenient time.

"While the possibility of stadiummk hosting the event will only be considered if Vicarage Road is otherwise engaged, we have every confidence that our sport-loving city and our fantastic stadium would put on a terrific show."

Local football

STONY STRATFORD TOWN remain fourth in the South Midlands division one following a 2-1 win over Amersham Town and a 5-0 win over Sun Postal Sports. NEW BRADWELL ST PETER beat Bedford Town Reserves 1-0 to stay in sixth place while WINSLOW UNITED are second from bottom after losing 3-0 to Hoddesdon Town.

OLNEY TOWN are stuck in mid table mediocrity in the United Counties division one, they lost 1-0 to Buckingham Town and shared the spoils with Eynesbury Rovers in the 2-2 draw.

Duo knocked out

BADMINTON duo Gail Emms and Nathan Roberts were knocked out of the European Championships in Denmark at the semi-final stage.

Emms and Roberts, who are based in MK, could not live up to their mixed doubles top seeding and crashed out at the hands of Robert Mateusiak and Nadiezda Kostiuczyk, losing 14-21, 21-10, 21-6.

"We made a lot of simple errors," Roberts said, "We're extremely disappointed."

"The crowd support was fantastic but unfortunately myself and Gail were well below our best. "

Emms did pick up a medal during the championships, a silver in the women's doubles, but she lost her title in the process.

Alongside partner Donna Kellogg she lost 21-18, 21-18 to Kamilla Rytter Juhl and Lena Frier Kristiansen

Emms said: "I would love to have won two titles here but it was not to be. You have to take the losses with the wins."

Ince blasts back after Stockport boss slurs

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

Left: Jim Gannon and Paul Ince have 'words' on the touchline.
Above: Lloyd Dyer takes to the air with his usual exhuberance as Dons players celebrate their first equaliser – he was later confronted on the bench by Stockport's boss after getting excited over Keith Andrews' winner

FURIOUS Paul Ince has 'lost all respect' for Jim Gannon after hearing the Stockport County manager accused MK Dons of dirty tactics.

The Dons' boss was angered when he saw comments calling his side arrogant splashed across the Sunday papers.

Gannon, who watched MK Dons secure promotion to League One and end County's ten match unbeaten run in the process, ripped into the Dons following his side's 3-2 defeat.

In his post-match press conference Gannon said: "Although MK Dons have got some quality players and play some good football I think they epitomise a lot of what I don't like about the game in England - snide practices, using fouls as a tactic, time-wasting gamesmanship and, most of all, arrogance."

The remarks followed bizarre scenes at Edgeley Park when Gannon angrily confronted Lloyd Dyer on the bench following the Dons' winger's celebrations at the winning goal.

Yesterday Ince, speaking exclusively to MK NEWS, hit back labelling his counterpart a 'coward'.

"If I was a chairman and saw my manager running down the line confronting the opposition player – he wouldn't be a manager at my club. His comments annoy me because when I was down in his office he didn't say a word. He was very complimentary, wished us all the best. I was saying all the right things you say as a manager to show respect for each other because we're all in it together.

"For him to come out and say that, it's disgraceful. It's a cowards way to disrespect myself, my players and the club. I'm not happy about it at all, if I had the chance to see him I'd tell him face to face."

Unfortunately, the war of words has taken the gloss off a five-goal thriller and Ince believes while the game had fouls it was not particularly dirty, instead it was a typical League Two encounter for fans to enjoy.

"Maybe he should look at his own team before he starts looking at mine.

"Their lad (Shaleum) Logan should have been sent-off for a bad tackle on Dean Lewington. He forgets about what his players are doing. He's got double standards.

"At the end of the day he's a bitter person. There's no need to be bitter, they've still got a chance of getting promoted.

"Win, lose or draw you should always come out of the game with dignity. The game could have gone either way. We've got the three points and that's all that matters."

> At the end of the day he's a bitter person. There's no need to be bitter, they've still got a chance of getting promoted. Win, lose or draw you should always come out of the game with dignity

Parish and Town Council Elections

There are elections in the following areas for parish and town councils:

- Central Milton Keynes – East Ward
- New Bradwell
- Olney
- Stony Stratford - South East Ward
- West Bletchley – Denbigh North East Ward
- Wolverton – East and West Wards

If you live in these areas you will be given two ballot papers, one for Milton Keynes Council (white paper) and one for the parish/town council (gold paper).
